The Industrial Revolution – A Discussion Surrounding the Hottest Sector of the CRE Market and its Local Impact

Tight vacancies and increasing rents are driving new development in the Jacksonville industrial market. Every key indicator is at or near all-time highs. We will explore what is creating the surge by discussing such topics as who are the industrial companies looking at Jacksonville, what is attracting these users and developers, how the port deepening and new industrial product coming online will affect the market and the current trends in industrial space.
